21 January 1983MEMORANDUM FOR: [redacted]
Chief, FICG/CRES

25X1

FROM : Deputy Director for Intelligence

SUBJECT : Deception Briefing [redacted]

25X1

On February 7, the Director will have David Packard, General John Gavin, and another retired general officer in to discuss deception through most of the day. The DCI has asked us to accept responsibility for the morning sessions that would start with a 45 minute or so briefing on Soviet deception, based on the paper you [redacted] have drafted. We think that the remaining time in the morning might be divided among three or four possible case studies on deception [redacted]

25X1

[redacted] In talking about the case studies, we would brief the general situation that leads us to be suspicious and then brainstorm with them how the Soviets might deceive us and what things we ought to look for. These would be sessions along the lines of how to think about the Soviets deceiving us. I would appreciate your working with ACIS and SOVA to set up these briefings and give me a general outline of how they would be conducted by February 1. [redacted]
